Miss Dodge having procured the Constitution & By Laws of a similar society in West Brookfield, she was asked to read it & then the society voted on each article separately, & adopted the Constitution & By Laws as here given.

A friendly talk was had in regard to limiting the age of those attending Socials. Hoping thus to get the older members of the church & congregation together in a social way & occupy the place the younger element had taken. It was decided to limit the age for the younger people to fourteen years. & if that proved to draw in a young element, which made it advisable for various reasons to change, to place it at 16 years. if the officers & Committee thought advisable Mrs Fannie Clapp & Miss Fannie Garon were chosen as directors thus making the number five as called for by our Constitution. Miss Underwood who was never known to turn anyone away hungry or thirsty from her door, did not make an exception this time, & those of us who ate of the cake, which was made from a receipt which has been used in Miss Underwoods family for many years could not possibly wonder why the receipt had survived generations that with the other good things provided by our President, showed us that there was still as good a cook & hostess left in the Underwood family as other generations had known.
